

Jennifer practices a gentle blend of Japanese and Chinese acupuncture and dispenses Chinese herbs. She received a Bachelor of Arts from Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, New York and her masters degree in 2005 from the New England School of Acupuncture in Boston, Massachusetts. She continues studying medicine both in China and at home with high quality teachers and scholars such as Sharon Weizenbaum, Nigel Dawes, Heiner Fruehauf, Dr. Liu Lihong, and Dr. Huang Huang. At White Pine Healing Arts, Jennifer practices general medicine with a focus on women's health and pediatrics. Jennifer is part of the supporting faculty at Eileen Muir's Five Element Shiatsu Program in Northampton. Jennifer lives in Conway with her husband, son, and faithful dog named Mica.

Find out more about Jennifer at her website: Axis Acupuncture